Introduction

Welcome to the fifth edition of the Goldmine Price Guide to 45 RPM Records. We thank you for your support during the past decade or so – oh, where has the time gone? We are humbled that you, as a reader and collector, feel that our efforts have merited as many as five editions of the same price guide.

The fourth edition, which had more 7-inch singles listed and valued in one place than any other price guide, again was well received. Once again, you let us know what you liked and where you felt we could improve, and we've made a few changes here and there to reflect your input.

What's new for 2005

To sum up what most of you would like to see in this book, I quote a hit song from 1976, "More, More, More!"

In a book such as this, even with over 700 pages, you can't possibly list everything, not even every performer who, for example, had a top-10 charted hit or even a number-one charted hit. So, when we add someone, we try to do so for a good collectible reason and not merely to take up space.

The three things we've spent time on over the past two years that are now reflected in the book;

– More rare soul records. In the past two years, that nebulous form of music called "Northern Soul," which has always been collectible to a small core of fans in the United Kingdom, has taken off like a rocket. Because this music is so hard to define, many in the hobby have begun to call certain sought-after dance records "rare soul." To be a valuable record in this genre, it has to be very difficult to find, even in the States!

Because of this, a lot of records that have no business being called "Northern Soul" are lumped into the category. During our research, we've found records released from about the mid-1960s to the early 1980s that fit into this wide-ranging genre.

We've added a lot of rare soul listings to this fifth edition. Plus we have gone through those artists who have one or two records that fit into the genre. If you see in, say, the Chubby Checker, Patti Page or Jackie Wilson listings, that there is one record that is far more valuable than anything issued on either side of it, you are likely seeing a disc in demand from soul collectors.

Certain labels are also in demand by soul collectors, and not merely the obvious Motown-affiliated material. The short-lived Washington, D.C. label Shrine is sometimes called "the world's most collectible record label" by soul aficionados, as the 45s released by the label are almost uniformly rare, yet almost uniformly sought-after. Another label loaded with collectible soul titles is the Cameo-Parkway family, especially in the years after the Philadelphia labels stopped having teen-idol and dance-of-the-month hits. Many otherwise obscure releases on the labels, including those on the short-lived Fairmount subsidiary, are highly collectible.

Some reports in the last couple months claim that the ardor for rare soul is starting to cool. But that seems to be more because the market is maturing; collectors aren't buying just anything danceable any more. We've tried to indicate which of these "rare soul" records are truly the most collectible.

– More illustrations. Thanks to some avid picture sleeve collectors, most notably Steve Pimper of Utah, we've added hundreds of cool and hard-to-find picture sleeves to both the listings and to the illustrations. We hope you enjoy all the sleeves we've pictured throughout the guide.

– More new 45s from the 2000s. We've added several collectible artists from the past five years to the book. The most notable addition is the collectible duo known as The White Stripes, who have a fanatic following only some of which is reflected in national sales charts. The group loves vinyl and has issued many 7-inch singles, most of which have passed into the collector's market for a lot more money than they originally cost.

Also, new 45s by established artists can do wacky things. Late in 2004, the song "Vertigo" by U2 was issued on an American 45, and weird things began to happen on eBay. When it was first released, copies often traded for outrageously large sums and in a couple cases, for over $100! Eventually, the market realized that, though the 45 wasn't common, it wasn't a $100 rarity, either. We've got it in the book for what we feel is a more realistic sum based on a more knowledgeable collector base ($8 for near mint). Of course, we also have many other singles from the 2000s in the book, both new songs and reissues of older material.

The other thing that long-time readers will notice is that we've tweaked the format of the book. After the success we had with the 2004 4th Edition of the Goldmine Standard Catalog of American Records 1950-1975, we've decided to incorporate those same new design features in this book as well. It allows us to include more records in the same amount of space without making the book harder to read.

Otherwise, in general, 45s remain the most avidly collected musical format in the world. My only wish is that more of today's music would appear on 7-inch singles. It may not be a huge market, but it is a market, and it is not being served right now.

How To Use This Book

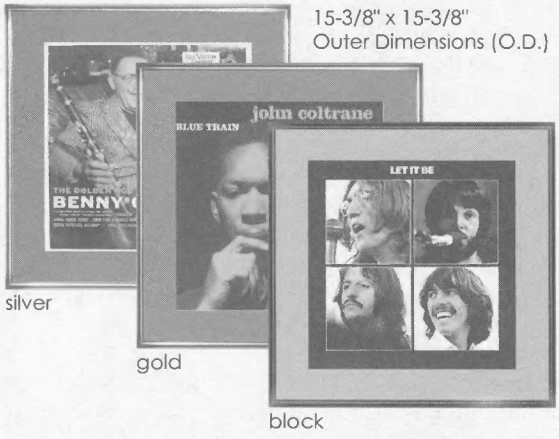
To quote my late father, who was often asked by his children who found a task difficult, "How do you do this?" He often replied, "Very carefully."

That is the same advice we give to you.

The prices in this book are taken from many sources, both online and off, and from the advice of many correspondents. It is only a guide; it is not holy writ. When using the prices in this book, to use another famous disclaimer, "Your mileage may vary."

That said, we at least can tell you what is in each listing and what it means. We have decided to emphasize some areas that seem to confuse the most readers, so those who do understand how to use the book based on a casual glance of these listings, please bear with us.

Records in this book are listed alphabetically by artist. The artist's name is in BOLD CAPITAL LETTERS. They are mostly alphabetized the way our computer did, so blame anything that seems grossly out of order on that.



In some cases, we know that the artist name was used by several different performers. When we don't know for sure which are which, we have left them together. When we do know with some certainty, we have separated them.

In most but not all cases, the most collectible is listed first, usually with the number (1) in parentheses following it. The exceptions are those artists whose fame or number of records overshadows any other performer with the same name, or those who rarely used "The"

in front of their name, such as Eagles, Outlaws and Pretenders. The rest of the performers with the same name will be arranged alphabetically by record label and will be followed by the appropriate parenthetical number – (2), (3), (4), and so on. If a number is skipped, it's because it's by an artist for whom we have only albums, but no singles, in our database. Finally, those for which we don't know where they go are listed with a (U) for Unknown after the name.

Underneath some artists are cross-references or other information we feel is helpful. Cross-references to other artists are in CAPITAL LETTERS.

Then we have grouped the record listings by label. Under each record label are the individual listings in numerical, not necessarily chronological, order. The exception is the RCA Victor label (1949-1976). We first list those with a two-digit numerical prefix (such as 47 or 48), then those with a three-digit numerical prefix (such as 447), then those with an APBO prefix (1973-1974), then finally, those with a two-digit letter prefix such as GB or PB.

Each line starts with a check box, which you can use to keep track of what you have. Then comes the record number. Then comes, in some cases, a couple letters enclosed in [brackets]. These designate something special about the record as follows:

[DJ]: some sort of promotional copy, usually for radio stations, and not meant for public sale;

[M]: mono record, for late 1950s and early 1960s records that were issued in both mono and stereo;

[PS]: picture sleeve. NOTE: This value is for the sleeve BY ITSELF. To get the value of the record with the picture sleeve, ADD the two values together!

[S]: stereo record, again for those discs pressed in both mono and stereo;

[(x)] where x is a number: the number of records in a set.

You'll next find both sides of each record listed, with a slash or double slash separating the two sides of the disc. We have used chart information or double-sided promo records to try to list the A-side first. Sometimes, this differs from what the record itself claims is the A-side.

After that information is the year of release of the record, based on record label information or chart data. Sometimes, this differs from a year listed on a record itself. When in doubt, believe in the years WE list and NOT those on the record, unless you have an additional source OTHER THAN a year on the record label that proves us incorrect.

Finally, each line ends with an approximate value in Very Good, Very Good Plus and Near Mint condition.

Some records have an additional line of type underneath the listing, in italics. That denotes something about the item listed above it, such as who also is on the record, or color of label or color of vinyl.

With extended play singles, the songs on each side are listed in the order they appear on the record, using the record itself, and not the listings on the cover, as a guide. A double slash indicates the end of Side 1 and the start of Side 2.

Some contents listings for extended play singles are preceded by an asterisk (*). This indicates that these are indeed the songs on this record, but this may or may not be the correct order as they appear on the disc itself.

Selling Records

By far the most often asked question over the years has been some variation of the following:

How do I sell my records and get the most for them?

First, here's the Reader's Digest version of the answer to the question.

You will get more for your records if you can sell them directly to someone who wants what you have (a collector), rather than selling to someone who is going to turn around and re-sell them (a dealer).

A corollary to the first line of advice above: The prices in this book are RETAIL prices – what collectors might pay for these from a seller. They are NOT dealers' buying prices!

If you want to sell all your records at once to the same person, whether that person is a dealer or collector, expect to get almost nothing for them, no matter what condition or genre they are.

The more time you spend on the project, the more you'll likely get for each record.

Now, some more details.

First, buy this book and use it. You are better off working from a position of knowing what you have rather than guessing,

Look through it and see if you have anything that is more valuable than the average. If not, or if your records and sleeves are "well loved" (say, VG condition or worse), it probably isn't worth your time to work hard to sell them. Be kind to a friend: Give them to someone who collects records. Or sell them at your next garage/rummage sale for 10 cents or a quarter each. Or donate them to Goodwill, the Salvation Army, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, or some other charity with a thrift shop, and get a tax receipt. But don't throw them away! We never recommend that unless your records are in truly poor condition.

Maybe your stash has some records of above-average value, or maybe you actually took good care of your records and they are still in VG+ condition or better. You can do either of two things:

– sell them to a dealer;

– sell them yourself, directly to collectors.

What to expect when selling to a dealer. As we already mentioned, the prices in this book are NOT dealer's prices; they are collector's prices. Also, please note that the prices in this book are a guide and not sent down from on high. You are in for a rude awakening if you expect to get these prices from a dealer.

For something genuinely rare, you might get 40 to 60 percent of the "book value." For many of these, all a dealer has to do is pick up the phone and call the right customer, and the record is sold. For less expensive records, though, don't expect to get more than 10 to 25 percent of the "book value." The less valuable a record is, the lower the percentage of the retail price a dealer will give you for it. Sellers, even those who only sell online, have overhead costs they have to recover, such as inventory, rent, utilities, postage and packing fees, employees, insurance, taxes, listing fees, bandwidth, and many more things that a dealer has to recoup in order to stay in business. Some dealers won't even try to get records from people who say they consulted a price guide, because these sellers sometimes get delusions about what they "deserve" for their records. If this happens to you, don't say we didn't warn you.

Sometimes, the hardest part of selling to a dealer is finding one. Most large cities, and many smaller ones, have used record stores. The best way to find them in your area is to look in your local Yellow Pages. Depending on who published the phone book, used record stores are found either under the heading "Records, Tapes and Compact Discs – Retail" or "Compact Discs, Tapes and Records – Retail."

Just because you've found that store (or stores) doesn't mean they will buy your records. From a dealer's standpoint, common records are almost literally a dime a dozen. You might get only a token amount for a pile of records if all of them are fairly common, regardless what this price guide says. But if the alternative was between getting something for them or getting nothing for them, you'll probably be happy with the result. And you no longer have the records in your way.

What to expect when selling to a collector. In the era of online auctions, this is a more appealing alternative than it used to be. Regardless what method you use, it will take longer and require more patience than selling to a dealer. Plus, if you will be selling through the mail, you have some additional costs, most notably for good packaging and postage. But it can be worth the effort.

It takes work to sell your records directly to someone who wants them for a collection. We do not have lists of record collectors that you can contact, so don't bother to ask. Finding collectors is up to you.

Before the Internet, you basically had two options for doing it yourself to reach the collector's market: Setting up at record shows/fairs, or advertising in record collecting magazines. And both still have their place.

For a seller, the record show is a great place to meet other collectors and dealers, get ideas and advice, and see some records you might not see anywhere else. Also, some high-value deals still take place at shows. If you like the direct interaction and the wheeling and dealing – and can resist the temptation to add to your own inventory or collection with the proceeds – then selling at a record show may be for you.

Record collector magazines have shrunk in recent years, but they remain a viable outlet for certain kinds of collectibles. They are best for selling middle- to higher-priced items that allow you to make up for the cost of the ad and still make money. And, as most serious collectors read one or the other or both magazines, an ad letting them know of your existence can pay dividends. Both serve a smaller, but more targeted, audience than an online auction.

Of the two major record collecting magazines, Goldmine has a higher profile, a larger circulation, and more expensive ads as a result. Discoveries has less costly ads, but less than half of Goldmine's circulation. Both are published by F+W Publications; if you've never seen them, they are available at many major bookstores and independent record shops, or a sample copy of either can be obtained by calling 800-258-0929.

For most people with an accumulation of records who want to "eliminate the middleman," online has been the way to go since the late 1990s. And the most popular site for this action is eBay (www.ebay.com).

Online selling seems to draw two widely different audiences. One is much the same as a stand-alone record store, except on a global scale rather than a regional one. Browsers who know next to nothing about record collecting and the relative scarcity of the listed pieces are common. These are people who can sometimes be fooled into paying too much for a common record if they get caught up in "auction fever," where the thrill of the hunt can override their rational knowledge that the item can be had cheaper somewhere else or with a bit more patience at eBay.

The other audience drawn to online sales is the hyper-specialist, and this is often where items can justifiably go for much more than in a retail store. Thanks to search engines, a fan of, say, Charlie Feathers can type in the words "Charlie Feathers" and find nothing but the Charlie Feathers-related material. People who specialize in one artist will usually pay more – sometimes a lot more – than someone who collects a more broad range of artists. Because they are specialists, though, they also know which items are common, so they don't get taken on the easy stuff.

As a seller, you are reaching a larger audience than you would in a record collecting magazine, but a much less targeted one. The Internet seems to be a good place to sell lower-priced items that might take up valuable space in an expensive print ad. But many more valuable items fetch less online than they do through more traditional means.

To do the best at selling online:

– Use the Goldmine Grading Guide, which is elsewhere in this book. Don't say that your records are in "good condition," because "good" is a low grade… unless, of course, they really are in only "good" condition.

– Grade your records conservatively, and mention any flaws with them in your description.

– Always mention the record label and number of any record you sell. I am amazed at how many auctions lack this basic, and vital, information.

– Take a picture of, or scan, everything you sell, and post those images with your auctions. If possible, use multiple images. Photos can tell the potential buyer more than your words will.

– That said, don't alter your images in any way or steal someone else's better images! Your buyers probably won't deal with you again when they find out that your "pristine" record or sleeve has serious flaws. Answer all of your customers' questions, no matter how arcane or trivial they may seem. It could be the difference between a sale and no sale.

– Make your minimum bid the lowest amount you'll be willing to take for the item. Many items sell for only the minimum.

– However, if you really want to sell, don't set that minimum too high. It is better to start an auction low and watch the action send an item to new heights than to put a high minimum on an item. If you feel queasy, use a hidden reserve price, below which you won't sell the item.

– Charge a reasonable amount for shipping. It is expected that buyers will pay for shipping. But don't try to make a profit at it, either. If you charge more than what the Postal Service or your private shipper of choice charges to send an item, explain why.

– Once you sell the items, pack them well. Some customers will have specific requests on how they want an item sent. Listen to them!

Remember, too, that with tens of thousands of records for sale at any given time, approximately half of all records on eBay receive no bids at all. In addition to not following the advice for sellers listed above, it's possible that no one wanted to buy your record during the time your record was posted. Maybe at another time, you'll get bidders.

Grading Your 45s

Nothing is more important in determining the value of your records than their condition! Yes, their relative rarity and demand is important, but a collector or dealer will pay much more for a record in Near Mint condition than one in Very Good Minus condition.

However, I've found that most people with collections or accumulations have an inflated sense of the condition of their discs. I don't know how many times I've heard people who think they know what they are talking about tell me, "My records are all Mint!" Sure, and I've got some ocean front property in Arizona to sell you.

The truth is that most records, especially from before the 1970s, are not in anything close to Mint or Near Mint condition. That is why a collector will pay a premium for such a disc if he or she has to have it.

This book lists records in three grades of condition – Very Good, Very Good Plus, and Near Mint. For most collectors, Very Good is the lowest grade for which they will pay more than bargain-bin prices. And some won't even do that. Lower-grade records are only good as place holders, until a better copy comes along, or as examples of truly rare records that are difficult to find in any condition.

Regular 45s are usually sold with one grade for the entire record, unless it has a picture sleeve. In those cases, separate grades are given to the disc and sleeve.

Most records are graded visually. This is because most record dealers have lots of records – hundreds of thousands in some cases – and they don't have the time to play their entire stock. That said, some defects are easy to see, such as scratches and warps. Others are subtle, such as groove wear from using a cheap or poorly aligned tone arm. It has been our experience that older 45s (1950s to about 1971) tend to play better than they look, and newer 45s tend to play worse than they look.

When grading your records, do so under a strong light. Look at everything carefully, and then assign a grade based on your overall observations.

Some records will be worthy of a higher grade except for defects such as writing, tape or minor seam splits. Always mention these when selling a record! For some collectors, they will be irrelevant, but for others, they will be a deal-breaker. For all, they are important to know.

Also, some records and sleeves were made for promotional purposes only. Again, always mention if a record is a promo copy when advertising it for sale! For collectors of 45s, this information can be vitally important; sometimes, the desirable song appears only on stock copies of the 45.

One of the obstacles to the further growth of record collecting is poor grading and a lack of consensus as to what constitutes a "Very Good Plus" or "Near Mint" record or cover. Over the years, the Goldmine Grading Guide has tried to standardize this. It is now the most widely used guide for the buying and selling of 45s; many eBay auctions and stand-alone Web sites swear by it. But we recognize that there are many variables to grading a record. As a seller, you are better off grading conservatively and surprising the buyer with a better record than was expected, than by grading based on wishful thinking and losing a customer.

That said, here are the standard grades for 45 rpm records and picture sleeves, from best to worst.

Mint (M)

These are absolutely perfect in every way. Often rumored but rarely seen, Mint should never be used as a grade unless more than one person agrees that the record or sleeve truly is in this condition. There is no set percentage of the Near Mint value these can bring; it is best negotiated between buyer and seller.

Near Mint (NM Or M-)

A good description of a NM record is "it looks like it just came from a retail store and it was opened for the first time." In other words, it's nearly perfect. Many dealers won't use a grade higher than this, implying (perhaps correctly) that no record or sleeve is ever truly perfect.

NM records are shiny, with no visible defects. Writing, stickers or other markings cannot appear on the label, nor can any "spindle marks" from someone trying to blindly put the record on the turntable. Major factory defects also must not be present; a record and label obviously pressed off center is not Near Mint. If played, it will do so with no surface noise. (NM records don't have to be "never played"; a record used on an excellent turntable can remain NM after many plays if the disc is properly cared for.)

NM picture sleeves have no creases, ring wear or seam splits of any kind. It should look as if it never housed a record. This is a great reason to remove your 45s from their picture sleeves and keep them separate. Just keeping the 45 inside the sleeve will cause damage that can reduce the grade of the sleeve.

These are high standards, and they are not on a sliding scale. A record or sleeve from the 1950s must meet the same standards as one from the 1990s or 2000s to be Near Mint! It's estimated that no more than 2 to 4 percent of all records remaining from the 1950s and 1960s are truly Near Mint. This is why they fetch such high prices, even for more common items. Do not assume your records are Near Mint. They must meet these standards to qualify!

Very Good Plus (VG+) Or Excellent (E)

A good description of a VG+ record is "except for a couple minor things, this would be Near Mint." Most collectors, especially those who want to play their records, will be happy with a VG+ record, especially if it is toward the high end of the grade (sometimes called VG++ or E+).

VG+ records may show some slight signs of wear, including light scuffs or very light scratches that do not affect the listening experience. Slight warps that do not affect the sound are OK. Minor signs of handling are OK, too, such as telltale marks around the center hole, but repeated playing has not misshapen the hole. There may be some very light ring wear or discoloration, but it should be barely noticeable.

VG+ picture sleeves should have only minor wear. There might be some very light creasing where it is obvious that a record once resided (or still does reside). A VG+ picture sleeve might have some very minor seam wear or a split (less than one inch long) at the bottom, the sleeve's most vulnerable location.

Very Good (VG)

Many of the imperfections found on a VG+ record are more obvious on a VG record. That said, VG records – which usually sell for no more than 25 percent of a NM record – are among the biggest bargains in record collecting, because most of the "big money" goes for more perfect copies. For many listeners, a VG record or sleeve will be worth the money.

VG records have more obvious flaws than their counterparts in better shape. They lack most of the original gloss found on factory-fresh records. Groove wear is evident on sight, as are light scratches deep enough to feel with a fingernail. When played, a VG record has surface noise, and some scratches may be audible, especially in soft passages and during a song's intro and ending. But the noise will not overpower the music otherwise. Minor writing, tape or a sticker can detract from the label. Many collectors who have jukeboxes will use VG records in them and not think twice. They remain a fine listening experience, just not the same as if it were in better shape.

VG picture sleeves will have many signs of human handling. Ring wear in the middle of the sleeve, where the raised label would reside, is obvious, though not overwhelming. Some more creases and folds might be visible. Seam splitting will be more obvious; it may appear on all three sides, though it won't be obvious upon looking. Someone might have written on it or stamped a price tag on it, too.

Lower Grades

Good (G), Good Plus (G+) or Very Good Minus (VG–) records go for 10 to 15 percent of the Near Mint value, if you are lucky.

Good does not mean bad! The record still plays through without skipping, so it can serve as filler until something better comes along. But it has significant surface noise and groove wear, and the label is worn, with significant ring wear, heavy writing, or obvious damage caused by someone trying to remove tape or stickers and failing miserably. A Good to VG– picture sleeve has ring wear to the point of distraction, has seam splits obvious on sight and may have even heavier writing, though you don't often see picture sleeves with, for example, huge radio station letters written across the front to deter theft.

If the item is common, it's probably better to pass it up. But if you've been seeking it for a long time, get it cheap and look to upgrade.

Poor (P) and Fair (F) records go for 0 to 5 percent of the Near Mint value, if they go at all. More likely, they end up going in the trash. Records are cracked, impossibly warped, or skip and/or repeat when an attempt is made to play them. Picture sleeves are so heavily damaged that you almost want to cry. Only the most outrageously rare items ever sell for more than a few cents in this condition – again, if they sell at all.

Sealed Singles

Very few 45s were ever sold "sealed" at retail the way an LP usually is. Two exceptions are the Pink Floyd single "When the Tigers Broke Free" and the Grateful Dead's gray vinyl edition of "Touch of Grey." If still sealed, these can bring even higher prices than listed in the book, assuming the presence of none of the signs of abuse that detract from the condition of the picture sleeve. Yes, sealed records can be in a lower grade than Near Mint!

Some 7-inch EPs definitely were sold sealed, especially in the 1960s. I've sometimes come across copies that were open but still had shrink wrap on them.

One must be careful when paying a premium for sealed 45s of any kind for several reasons:

1. They probably were re-sealed, as with very rare exceptions, 45s were never sold sealed at retail. (In the 1970s, there were distributors who stuck "oldies" in plastic bags or on cardboard backing, then sealed them; this was done to distinguish them from new releases, and few collectors find them exciting as sealed objects.)
2. The records might not be in Near Mint condition.
3. The record inside might not be the original pressing or the most desirable pressing.

Records Not In This Book

Obviously – or at least I hope it's obvious to you – no book of 712 pages could possibly list every 45 rpm single ever made.

From the first time we compiled this book in 1996, we've had to make decisions about what we could include and what we couldn't, based upon the space available. The two biggest areas where we chose to limit our listings the most fit into the categories of imports and promotional copies.

Imports

The Goldmine Price Guide to 45 RPM Records lists only those 7-inch singles manufactured in the United States or, in a few instances, manufactured in other countries, but specifically for release in the United States. Any record that fits the following criteria is an import, and you won't find it in the book:

– 45s on the Parlophone label by any artist. Parlophone, best known as the Beatles' British label, was never used as a label for singles in the United States.

– 45s on a black "London" label that has the words "American Recordings" underneath the "London"; all of these are British imports.

– 45s that have the letters "BIEM," "GEMA" or "MAPL" on them.

– 45s that say anywhere on the label, "Made in Canada," "Made in the UK," "Made in Germany," etc.

We have chosen not to list records from Great Britain, Canada, Japan, or any other nation for logistical reasons: Where do you start, and where do you stop?

Unfortunately, we realize that there is a lack of reliable information on the value of non-U.S. records, especially published in the United States. Please don't contact us seeking information on non-U.S. records; we cannot help.

Also unfortunately, there are few general rules about the value of an import as compared to an American edition. Some import 45s, especially if they have unique picture sleeves, can go for more than the U.S. counterpart. Others seem to attract little interest in the States.

One rule that is just as true of imports as it is with U.S. records: Those discs that are originals in the best condition will sell for more than reissues and those in less than top-notch shape.

Promotional Copies

Basically, a promotional record is any copy of a record not meant for retail sale. Different labels identify these in different ways: The most common method on 45s is to use a white label instead of the regular-color label and/or to add words such as the following:

"Demonstration – Not for Sale"
"Audition Record"
"For Radio-TV Use Only"
"Promotional Copy"

Some labels, of course, used colors other than white; still others used the same labels as their stock copies, but added a promotional disclaimer to the label.

Most promotional singles have the same catalog number as the regular release, except for those differences. Additionally, in the 1970s and into the 1980s, a promo copy often has the same song on both sides, usually with a mono version on one side and a stereo version on the other. Still later, a stereo version appears on both sides.

Sometimes, regular stock copies have a "Demonstration – Not for Sale" or "Promo" rubber stamped on the label; these are not true promotional records. Treat these as stock copies that have been defaced.

All of this is mentioned as a means of identification. As a rule, we do not list promotional records separately in this book, nor are we interested in doing so. There are exceptions, which we will list below. But we feel that the precious space in this book is better used for unique commercially available records rather than for thousands upon thousands of promotional copies.

Most promotional 45 rpm records sell for approximately the same as a stock copy of the same catalog number. That has been our experience.

However, there are certain exceptions. Those are the kinds of promos that you'll find documented in this book, and which we plan to continue to document. These include:

– Colored vinyl promos.

– Promos in special numbering series. Some of these are RCA Victor 45s starting with "SP-45" and then a two- or three-digit number; Capitol 45s starting with "PRO," "SPRO" or "7PRO"; Columbia 45s starting with "AS," "CAS," "CS7" and similar prefixes; Decca 45s with a number in the 34000s or 38000s; Warner Bros. 45s starting with "PRO" or "PRO-S"; and other labels' promo-only series that fall outside the usual numbering series of the labels.

– Promos that contain different versions of a song (longer, shorter, etc.) than are found on the regular copies. This does not include mono versions of stereo releases unless the mono version is significantly different from the stereo stock copy.

– Promos with the same song on both sides when the sought-after track on the record is the commercial B-side. Those promos will sell for less than the stock copies, sometimes significantly so.

– Promos by the Beatles, group and solo; the Rolling Stones, group and solo; and Elvis Presley. For the first time, all of Elvis' promo 45s from 1964 to the 1980s are included in the book. We have found that there indeed is a significant difference between the values of stock copies and promos of his 45s.

One final note on promotional records:

The vast majority of 45s released after their commercial heyday (i.e., since 1990) remained stock copies, often with bar codes and appropriate catalog numbers, and are treated as such in this book. That includes the Capitol "For Jukeboxes Only!" series, which was around from 1992 to 2001. Because these were sold via what passed as normal retail channels in those years, we consider them to be stock copies, and we will not be convinced otherwise.

Other Records Not Listed

Over the years, we've received questions from readers asking why certain popular performers were left out of the Goldmine Price Guide to 45 RPM Records and what the criteria for inclusion are. There are those people who feel that everyone who made the national music charts, especially Billboard, ought to be included.

Well, if this book had a nearly infinite amount of space, and if we had a nearly infinite amount of time to put the book together, we might consider it. But many of the most interesting and collectible 45s are by artists who never came close to making any chart. And other artists who charted for years and years have little collector interest.

Most of the "missing" artists have long, long discographies with few, if any, items of any value above the average for the time period. Many of these are "pop" artists from the pre-rock era, and listing their records would consume space better used for more collectible artists.

Our first suggestion to finding out about some of the missing artists is to get the Goldmine Standard Catalog of American Records 1950-1975. That book contains both singles and albums by quite a few performers who are not listed in this book

Our second suggestion is to find a copy of the Goldmine Country & Western Record Price Guide, 2nd Edition. It's now out of print, but you can find a copy without too much difficulty. Many country performers whose peak of popularity was before the rock era, or who never had significant crossover to the pop charts, can be found in that book.

Unfortunately, it's impossible to assume that because a record isn't listed in a price guide that it has no value. If it's by a pop-style artist of the 1950s, it's probably a safe assumption. But there remain a lot of undocumented records out there that are collectible for different reasons, or would be collectible if they were more widely known. We are always interested in learning about records that ought to be listed because they have significant value, and not simply because they are missing from the book.

Some areas of records that are under-represented in this book deserve special mention.

– Children's records. Most records that were marketed to children have some collectibility, especially if they have a legitimate tie-in to either a popular television show or to the Walt Disney empire. Some are listed in this book, but others are difficult to list because it's hard to define the "artist" under whom some of the ensemble pieces should be listed.

The challenge in collecting children's records is finding them in near-mint condition. Kids generally trashed anything they owned, and that included the records they played.

Children's records were among the first 45s to have picture sleeves; those, too, can be quite collectible if you can find them in top condition.

– Jazz 45s. Even though most of them are rare, there is not much demand for them, so the value has remained low. The only jazz 45s with much interest among collectors are those that were hit singles, and that is not because they are jazz records, but because they were hit singles.

– Classical 45s. Except for perhaps a few Mario Lanza records, there's virtually no collector interest. Even the RCA Victor red vinyl 45s from the late 1940s and early 1950s stir little passion among collectors.

– Various artists EPs. Few of these have significant value. Among the exceptions are those on the RCA Victor label that contain an Elvis Presley recording. Also, box sets of Broadway and movie musicals have interest, but usually, the original LP version of the same album is more collectible.

Acknowledgments

First, thank you to all those who have written, called, or e-mailed me since the last edition. Many of your suggestions and corrections have made it into this edition of the book. Others did not, but still could appear in future editions. I appreciate the input; without it, the price guide would not continue to evolve and improve.

Special thanks for photo contributions go to Steve Pimper and Bob Bruce.

Pimper has been working on a project for several years, incorporating his picture sleeve collection, and those of other top sleeve collectors, onto a CD-ROM he calls "Slix Pix." It contains images of over 4,300 picture sleeves and listings of over 12,000 U.S. sleeves. For more information on his efforts, you can contact him at spimper@aol.com or visit his Web site, journals.aol.com/spimper/SLIXPIXPictureSleeveReference/(all one line).

Bruce contacted me out of the blue about a year ago; he was a picture-sleeve designer at Columbia Records in the 1960s and contributed several previously unknown sleeves he designed, including one for an unreleased single by the Byrds.

I also want to thank those people at KP Books who helped make this fifth edition a reality: Debbie Bradley, Bill Krause, Paul Kennedy, Robert Best, Sandi Morrison, Cathy Bernardy, Todd Whitesel and Wayne Youngblood, with special thanks to Buddy Redling.

Finally, I want to thank two special people, without whom you might not be reading this today: my mother, Judith Neely, and my special friend Sara. I love you both!

Label Identifying Guide

For the most part, the most collectible records are original pressings. Those are the ones that presumably were available when the 45 was first pressed.

The biggest exceptions are in the catalogs of those artists who transcend almost all the rules – The Beatles and Elvis Presley. Some late-1960s Capitol pressings of Beatles singles go for several times the originals because they are outrageously rare. And the same is true of orange-label RCA Victor Presley EPs.

That said, though, most collectors who aren't out to get every variety of every 45 prefer an original edition. If not for this, there would be even more of a difference between those scarce repressings and the originals.

Most hit 45s, after a time, were deleted from record company catalogs. In their place, companies created reissue series with various names. Here are some of those series:

– Back to Back Hits (Warner Bros.; these are always identified on the label)

– Celebrity Series (Mercury; these have numbers in the 30000s)

– Forget Me Nots, later A&M Memories (A&M; these have numbers in the 8000s)

– Gold Standard Series (RCA Victor; most of these have a prefix beginning with "447")

– Golden Goodies Series (Roulette, though the label often licensed material from other labels)

– Goldies 45 (ABC, though the label often licensed material from other labels)

– Hall of Fame Series (Columbia; most of these have a number in the 33000s)

– Memory Lane Series (Epic)

– Oldies Series (Atlantic; most of these have numbers in the 13000s)

– Spun Gold (Elektra)

– Starline (Capitol; most of these have numbers in the 6000s)

The Dot label also had a reissue series, but never gave it a name; it merely changed record numbers from a five-digit number in the 15000s or 16000s to a number in the 100s. Countless other labels also had reissue series.

Also, entire labels dedicated to almost nothing but reissues sprang up; the most often encountered of these are Lost-Nite, Lana, Eric, Trip and Collectables.

Reissues, with few exceptions, are almost always worth a small fraction of the original issues.

Not every label had oldies series, though. Decca, for example, never had a formal reissue series. (The 25500 series, sometimes considered to be a reissue line, had as many new titles as reissues in it.) Thus, the label kept the same pairings and number available for decades in some cases, changing only the label design. For example, Bing Crosby's "White Christmas," first issued on 45 in 1950, exists on three different Decca label designs, all with the same catalog number. Even on labels with a reissue series, some titles remained in print with their original numbers for years. Capitol seemed to do this most often; not only did Beatles 45s keep their original numbers (with frequent label design changes) until 1981, but so did some Beach Boys singles, Nat King Cole's "The Christmas Song," and – of all things – Robert Mitchum's "The Ballad of Thunder Road"!

Thus this rough guide to help you date 45s.

Warning: There can be significant overlap between label designs.

This happened for one of two reasons. First, on major labels, the order of release may not exactly coincide with the order the numbers were assigned. Sometimes, a single release was delayed or accelerated, which means that some singles with earlier numbers may be "original" on a later label variation than later ones. Second, most independent labels farmed out their production to independent pressing plants. If a record was in high demand, a plant sometimes used whatever label was available, even if it was the wrong color or an older design. (Thus the maddening number of variations of Beatles 45s on Vee Jay.) This rarely happened on the major labels.

Two final disclaimers before we begin:

– This guide only covers regular U.S. 45 issues. Records on Canadian or other countries' versions of the same label are not listed, nor are 78s or EPs.

– The guide does not attempt to delve into promotional labels. The most common variant is a white label version of the design in use at the time. Promos, however, can also be pink, blue, lime green or cream (just to name a few shades of the rainbow); some used the same labels as stock copies and added promotional wording to the label typesetting or a star on the A-side; and still others didn't do promos at all.

A&M

1963-late 1973: Brown ("ochre") label, A&M trumpet logo in white box at left.

Late 1973-early 1981: Silvery gray label with fading A&M logo.

Early 1981-mid 1986: Red label, black ring along outer edge.

Mid 1986-late 1986: White label with black strip through center hole and A&M logo at right.

Late 1986-late 1989: Black label with white strip through center hole and A&M logo at right.

Late 1989-late 1990: Dark blue label.

Late 1990-1995: Red label.

1996-1999: Tan label, new A&M logo at upper left.

2000s: White label.

A small number of 1980s A&M 45s have custom labels.

ABC; ABC-Paramount

1955-1965: "ABC-Paramount" along top of black label with rainbow design underneath.

1966: Label becomes simply "ABC." First issues have black labels with "ABC RECORDS" in two lines in silver print at top.

1966-1967: Black label, "abc" in white circle a top, no box around outside.

1967-1972: Black label, "abc" in white circle at top with multi-color box around it.

1973: Short-lived label; black with white triangle at top and "ABC" in children's blocks inside. This label was gone by mid-1973 and replaced by the 1967-72 design until a new label could be created.

Mid 1974-1977: Multi-colored (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc Records" at top between two lines.

1977-1979: Multi-colored (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc" in an eighth note at top.

In 1979, the label was bought by MCA, which quickly replaced current ABC singles with tan-label MCA singles using the same number.

ABC Dunhill See Dunhill.

ABKO

Allan Klein's reissue label, singles have light blue labels with a darker blue logo above the center hole. Some labels have blue print, some have black print; this seems to be merely a pressing plant difference.

Ace

1955 (500-504): Black label.

1955 (505-511): Yellow label.

1955 (512): Blue label.

1955-57 (513-527): Yellow label.

1957-58 (528-553): White label, catalog number at bottom.

1958-62 (554-600s): White label, catalog number at right.

1962-63 (8000s): Yellow label.

Some records in the 570s also exist on purple labels.

Aladdin

1950-54 (3000s through 3259): Blue label.

1954-57 (3260-3399): Maroon label.

1957-end (3400-end): Black label.

Arista

1975-mid 1976: White label, light blue logo at top.

Mid 1976: Light blue label, black logo at top.

Late 1976-early 1977: Light blue label, white logo at top.

Early 1977-1978: Black label, blue logo at top.

1979-1983: Fading blue label.

1984-1990: Black label, "ARISTA" above multicolor mountain skyline.

1991-1997: Black label, "ARISTA" above white mountain skyline.

Late 1990s-early 2000s "Arista Nashville" issues: White and green label.

Early 2000s pop issues: White label.

Apple

1968-1974: Green Granny Smith apple on one side, sliced apple on the other. Some, though not all, singles from 1968-70 had a line of small white print on the sliced side with "A Subsidiary of Capitol Industries, Inc." along the bottom and a tiny Capitol logo. The small print was only used at one pressing plant, so two 45s could both be originals, yet one will have the "Capitol logo" and the other one won't.

1975: "All rights reserved" disclaimer added to the label print.

Some 45s have unsliced apples on both sides; others have custom apples; others have custom labels that include either a small apple or no apple at all.

Argo

1956-1957: Black label, sliver print, ship at top.

1957-1960: Black label, silver print, "ARGO" vertically at left.

1960-1965: Tan label. There is some overlap with the 1957-60 label.

Asylum

1972-1973 (11000 series): White label, "door-in-a-circle" logo at top.

1973-1974: "Clouds" label, door at top, "ASYLUM" to left of door, "RECORDS" to right.

1974-1984: "Clouds" label, door at top, "ASYLUM

RECORDS" above door. Around 1975, a small "W" (Warner Communications logo) was added to the label print.

1976: Some 45s were issued with a solid blue label with a small stylized "a" at the top. All of these also exist on the clouds label.

1985-1989: Split black and gold label.

1992-1995 (reactivated): Light blue label.

1996-end: White label.

ATCO

1955-1957: Maroon label.

1957-1977: White and yellow label, with mostly minor changes, such as in the address (or lack thereof) at the bottom of the label.

1978-mid 1980s: Gray label.

Mid 1980s-1989: White label, "ATCO" in multi-colored letters at top.

1990-1991: Mostly gray label, Atco logo at top surrounded by white.

Atlantic (pop)

Note: Some other Atlantic series (two examples are jazz and 1970s country) do not follow the below patterns.

1951-1956: Yellow and black label, no "fan" logo under the "A" at lower left. (In the 1970s, some Atlantic singles were reissued with yellow and black labels and the original catalog numbers, but these are easily distinguished from original pressings by their glossy labels and, more readily, the "fan" logo under the "A" at lower left. These are not as collectible as originals by any means.)

1956-1962: Red and black label, no "fan" logo at lower left.

1963-1990: Red and black label with "fan" logo under the "A" at lower left. Most of the changes on this label were subtle, such as changes in address ("1841 Broadway" issues come before those with Rockefeller Plaza addresses).

1990-present: Purple and black label.

Some 45s were issued with custom labels.

Bang

1966-1973: Yellow label with "BANG records" gun logo at top.

1974-1978 (711?-740): Sky blue label with clouds and stylized "BANG" curving around the top.

1979-1982 (Columbia distribution): Light brown label, red logo at top.

Barnaby

1970-1973 (CBS distribution): Light blue label, treble clef logo at left.

1973 (MGM distribution): White label with line drawing.

1974-79 (GRT/Janus distribution): Multicolor label, yellow rim, vinyl record hanging limply from tree. Early pressings of 601 have white labels with no graphic elements. These are not promos.

Bell

1954-early 1960s: Bell was a budget label. Three distinct label designs are known, which may or may not overlap. Some have yellow and black labels, some have white and black labels, and some have blue labels with silver print and "BELL RECORD" along the top edge and a bell underneath.

1965-1969: Blue label, silver print. Vinyl and styrene pressings exist with real labels exist as well as "painted-on" labels.

1970-1974: Silver label, black print. Some very early releases exist with "painted-on" labels, but most, including all after 1971, have real labels

Big Top

All regular issues have pink labels. Stereo 45s from 1959 have black labels.

Big Tree

1970-1971 (distributed by Ampex): Red and yellow label.

1971-1974 (distributed by Bell): Red and white label

1974-1976 (distributed by Atco): Light blue and red label.

1976-1980: Multicolor label.

Brunswick

1950-1953 (80000 and 84000 series): Black label, silver print,

1957-1960 (reactivated label, 55000-55166): Maroon label, silver print.

1960-1963 (55167-55250): Orange label, black print.

1963-1970s (55251-up): Black label, arrow-shaped color bars.

Buddah

1967 (1-no later than 22): Green label, black print. This label was also used for Buddah 31.

1967-1972 (no later than 23-low 300s?): Multi-color kaleidoscopic label with black drawing of Buddha at bottom and "BUDDAH RECORDS" on either side of drawing.

1972-1977: Maroon label with smiling Buddha figure, "BUDDAH RECORDS" in white at top.

1978-end: Black label, new logo at top, Arista logo added at bottom.

Cadence

1953-1954 (1230-1237): Maroon or red label with silver "JULIUS LA ROSA" at top of label with his image. (Yes, all of these were by Mr. LaRosa.)

1954-1961 (1238?-1402?): Maroon lower two-thirds of label, upper third is silver with "cadence" in lowercase and a metronome logo.

1961-1964 (1403?-1447): Red label, black rim with "CADENCE RECORDS" inside in white.

Cadet

Cadet replaced the Argo label in 1965. Several Argo titles were reissued with Cadet labels, most notably "Book of Love" by the Monotones.

The first label was an all light blue label with "CADET" across the top in black.

The second label was a fading blue label with "CADET" across the top in fading red, white and blue letters.

1971-end (GRT distribution): Yellow label, red rim, horizontal red stripe through center hole, "CADET" at left.

Cameo

1956-1957 (scattered early issues): Dark blue label, silver print, cameo at top. Some copies of 117 exist with this label, and others likely do.

1957-1960 (no later than 105-175?): Orange label, black print, cameo at top.

1960-1967 (176?-no earlier than 441): Red and black label, white cameo in yellow border at left.

1967-1968 (450?-497 and 2000 series): Red and tan label, new logo at top with interlocking "C-P" and the "C" filled in.

Canadian-American

1959-1961 (101-127?): Black label, silver print.

1961-1965 (128?-200 series): Black label, five color bars across top of label.

Capitol

1949: Purple label, number has a "54-" prefix. Some early Capitol singles also were released with red (country), maroon (classical) or yellow (children's) labels.

1950-1955: Purple label, "F" prefix before number, large Capitol logo at top.

1956-1959: Purple label, "F" prefix before number, much smaller Capitol logo at top.

1959-1961: Purple label, Capitol logo at left, title of song at top, artist at bottom.

1961-1968: Orange and yellow "swirl" label, Capitol logo at left, title of song at top, artist at bottom. Most singles of this era exist with at least two different typefaces. The most common are the "eastern" editions, with taller, lighter title and artist print, and the "western" editions, with shorter, bolder title and artist print.

Mid 1968-early 1969: Orange and yellow "swirl" label, Capitol logo at left, title of song at top, artist at bottom, 360 "ridges" added to the edge of the label, "A Subsidiary of Capitol Industries" is added to the perimeter print. Most of these have significantly smaller type than the 1961-1968 versions.

Early 1969-mid 1969: Red and orange "target" label, "old" Capitol logo in an oval at left.

Mid 1969-late 1972: Red and orange "target" label, "new" round Capitol logo at left. The black circle above the word "Capitol" usually has a white dot in the middle; some may or may not have a thin white circle in the middle of the black circle.

Late 1972-mid 1978: Orange label, olive green "Capitol" at bottom of label. Records by R&B-oriented performers have a red label with a black "Capitol" at bottom.

Mid 1978-mid 1983: Matte-finish purple label. Most of these have the 360 "ridges" around the outside of the label, or have room for one. The perimeter print starts with the abbreviation "Mfd."

Mid 1983-mid 1988: Black label, rainbow ring around outer edge, black print inside ring.

Mid 1998-1991: Glossy purple label, larger label than 1978-83 version as Capitol no longer used the 360 "ridges"; perimeter print starts with the word "Manufactured."

1992-2001: Glossy purple label, "FOR JUKEBOXES ONLY!" at left. Capitol Nashville labels were white, as were a few regular non-country Capitol singles of this era.

Some Capitol 45s from the 1970s onward have custom labels or "retro" labels.

Casablanca

1974 (0000 series): Dark blue label, mug shot of Bogart at left, "Manufactured and Distributed by Warner Bros. Records Inc." in white along bottom.

1974-1976 (801-856?): Dark blue label, mug shot of Bogart at left, "Manufactured and Distributed by Casablanca Records, Inc." in white along bottom.

1976-1977 (857?-884?): Tan label, desert scene at top, "Casablanca" at top.

1977-1981 (885?-2300s): Tan label, desert scene at top, "Casablanca Record and FilmWorks" at top.

1981-end (2300s into six-digit numbers): "Manufactured and Distributed by Polygram" at bottom.

Chancellor

1958-1959 (1001-1036?): Pink label, black print.

1959-1963 (1037?-end): Black label, silver print, "Chancellor" in red across top of label.

Checker

1952-1954 (750s to ca. 800): Maroon label with checkerboard (sometimes erroneously called a "web") at top, no "Record Co." under the word "Checker."

1954-1957 (801?-876?): As above, except with the words "Record Co." added under "Checker."

1957-1963: Maroon label, silver print, "CHECKER" vertically at left.

1963-1965: Blue label with black and red checkers. There is much overlap between this label and the prior one, though sometimes the older version is more red than maroon.

1965-end: Fading blue label, no checkers on top, "CHECKER" in fading red, white and blue letters.

Chess

1951-1957: Blue and silver label, chess pieces on top.

1957-1961: Blue label, silver print, "CHESS" vertically at left.

1961-1963: Orange, yellow and black label with small "CHESS" horizontally at right. There is some overlap with the above blue label.

1963-1966: Black label, "CHESS" in black across top. Again, there is overlap with the above two labels.

1966-1972: Fading blue label, "CHESS" across top.

1972-mid 1970s: Orange and blue label.

Mid 1970s and later reissues: Dark blue label.

Chrysalis

1972-1977: Green label, red butterfly at lower left, "Chrysalis" in red along bottom.

1977-1987: White label fading to blue at bottom, white butterfly at lower left, "Chrysalis" in white along bottom.

1987-1989: White label, colored butterfly at left.

1989-1991: Off-white label, different butterfly logo.

1992-1995: White label, "FOR JUKEBOXES ONLY!" at left.

Columbia (pop)

1950-1957: Maroon label, gold print.

1957-1958: Yellow label, black print.

1959-1962: Bright red label, black print.

1962-1963: Orange label, title and artist both at bottom. (This label was still in use in Canada until at least 1969.)

1963-1964: Transitional period; many different color labels (orange, yellow, green, pink, red, possibly others), with artist's name at left and song title at bottom. Some of these had a line drawing of the artist at right (most notably Andy Williams and Tony Bennett 45s).

1965-1970: Red label, black print, artist's name at left (sometimes on its side), song title at bottom.

1970-1971: Another transitional period with at least four different labels in use, more or less simultaneously – the red 1965-1970 label; a new red label with "COLUMBIA" repeated around the outside perimeter in white; an orange label with "Columbia" (mixed case letters) repeated in the background; and an orange label with "COLUMBIA" (upper case letters) repeated in the background.

Mid 1971-mid 1972: Orange label with "COLUMBIA" (upper case letters) repeated in the background.

Mid 1972-early 1973: Gray label.

Early 1973-2001: Orange label, "COLUMBIA" in white across the top. Only minor modifications in type style were made to this label in the next 30 years, plus a bar code was added to the label in the mid-1980s.

Late 2001-present: Red label with six white "COLUMBIA"s around the outer edge, each separated by the "eye" logo. Other label print is black.

A small number of Columbia 45s since 1973 were issued with custom labels.

Coral

1950-early 1960s: Orange label. A few scattered records in special series have maroon labels.

Early 1960s-1969: Black label with color bars and "CORAL" at left.

Cotillion

1969-1972: Red label, "Cotillion" in box at top.

1976-1980s: Reactivated label; purple with a round "C" logo at top.

Decca (pop)

1950-1954: Black label, "DECCA" curving at top of label, lines on either side of the label name.

1955-1960: Black label, "DECCA" curving at top, star underneath the first "C" with lines on either side of the star. Mysteriously, some U.S. pressings exist with the 1950-1954 labels well after this "star" label became predominant.

1960-1973: Black label, "DECCA" in five colors of print at left on its side, a rainbow color bar at right.

NOTE: Almost all Decca 45s have the numbers machine stamped in the dead wax, not scrawled in.

Decca was reactivated as a country label in the 1990s. Early 45s from this period have black labels; later ones have purple labels.

Deluxe

1950-1952: Black label, "AA" after number.

1952-1954: Black label without "AA" after number; "High Fidelity" is NOT on the label.

1955-1959: Black label, "High Fidelity" on label.

1960-end: Yellow label.

Dootone/Dooto

1951-1957: Most originals have non-glossy maroon "Dootone" labels, though some also exist with black or blue labels. No address is on the label.

1957 (412-416): Maroon "Dooto" label, silver print.

1957-1958 (417-440): Yellow label, Dooto label in red oval.

1958-1959 (441-450s, 700s): Yellow label, Dooto label in blue oval.

1959-1961 (450s-465?): Black label, multi-colored print.

1961 (466-471): Brief return of "Dootone" label; red label with multi-color print.

1962 on (472-end): Maroon Dooto label, multi-color print.

Regardless of label, records with a zip code are from 1964 or later.

Dot

1950-1952: Maroon label, gold print.

1952-1953: Yellow label, black print.

1953-1956: Maroon label, silver print, "Gallatin, Tenn." address on label.

Mid 1956: Maroon label, silver print, "Hollywood, Calif." address on label; a very short-lived variation.

Late 1956-1968: Black label, script "Dot" in multi-color letters at top.

1968-1969: Black label, "DOT" in white box at top of label.

1969-1974: Purple and orange label, "DOT" in box at top of label.

Mid 1974-1975: Multi-color (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc Dot Records" at top of label between two lines.

1976-1977: Multi-color (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc Dot" at top of label between two lines.

Dunhill

1965-1968: Black label, "DUNHILL" in white at top with gold border around it.

1968-1972: Black label, "DUNHILL" and "abc" in multi-color boxes at top.

Early 1973: "DUNHILL" in a white rectangle at top of black label, spelled out in children's blocks; a very short-lived label. This was quickly replaced by the 1968-72 label until a new design could be created.

1974-1975: Multi-color (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc Dunhill" at top of label between two lines.

Elektra

Early 1960s-1966: Gold label.

1966-1967 (45601-45615): Yellow and black label, "ELEKTRA" in gold across top, "idol head" and white line above label name.

1967-1970: White, black and red label with red and white stylized "E"s on upper half of label. This label has significant overlap with the next two.

1967-1968: Pink, black and red label with red and white stylized "E"s on upper half of label. We know of no Elektra 45s that exist only on this label; it seems to have been used concurrently with the previous label.

1969-1970: Yellow and black label, single stylized "E" at top, white "X" through entire label. There is some overlap with the above two and below labels.

1970-1974: Grayish label, caterpillar at top.

1975-1979: Green label, butterfly at left. There is some overlap with the "caterpillar" label, as some 45s exist with "caterpillar" labels long after that older label was used regularly.

1976: Red label, white stylized "E" at top. This was used for only a short time late in the year, and all of these also exist with the "butterfly" label.

1979-1983: Red label, white stylized "E" at top. This time, the label stuck.

Early 1984: White label with new, small Elektra logo at top; a very short-lived label.

Mid 1984-1989: Red and black label, "ELEKTRA" across top.

Mid 1989-1991: Gray label.

1991-2000s: Tan label.

Ember

1956-1958: Red or red-orange label.

1958-1960: Pale blue and white label with other colors mixed in, "EMBER" spelled out with flaming logs at top.

1960-end: Black label.

EMI America/EMI Manhattan/EMI

1978-1980: Green label.

1980-1987: Gray label.

1987-1988 (EMI Manhattan): White label, yellow and black design elements.

1989-1992 (EMI): Bluish label. The 1992 issues have "FOR JUKEBOXES ONLY!" on the label.

1993-1997 (EMI): White label, "FOR JUEKBOXES ONLY!" at left.

End

1957: Black label.

1957-59: White label (sometimes appears gray) with two halves of dog at top.

1959-end: Multi-color label with two halves of dog at top.

Enterprise

1967-1968: Blue label, green, purple, pink and orange stripes at top.

1968-mid 1971: Black label, "ENTERPRISE" in yellow at top with logo to its left.

Mid 1971-1974: Black label, colorful stylized "E" logo at top.

Epic

1953-1962: Yellow label, black lines around outside of label.

1963-1973: Yellow label, black lines around outside of "EPIC" at top of label.

1973-1979: Orange label with white concentric circles and small white "e" and "Epic" at top.

1979-2001: Dark blue label (not black), script "Epic" logo at top.

2001-2005: White label, black lines around outside of "EPIC" at top, with background of label name in yellow. Most recent Epic 45s have custom labels, however.

Fraternity

1956-1958: Light blue label.

1959-early 1960s: Dark blue label.

Early 1960s: Red label, black print

Mid to late 1960s and beyond: Maroon label, silver print.

Geffen

1980 (only known to exist on early pressings of 49563): Warner Bros. label with "GEFFEN RECORDS" in a box just above the center hole.

1980-1985: White label with horizontal pinstripes.

1985-1990s: Black label.

Gone

1957: Black label, "GONE" in "shadow print" at top.

1957-1959: Black label, head and open mouth logo inside the letter "O."

1959-end: Multi-color label.

Gordy

1962-1967: Purple label, "Gordy" in cursive yellow at top superimposed over an oval with the slogan "IT'S WHAT'S IN THE GROOVES THAT COUNT."

1968-1980s: Purple label, "GORDY" in purple to left of center hole, yellow wedge going through center hole from left to right. There is some overlap in 1967 between label designs.

Hickory

The earliest labels are tan with brown print. No later than the early 1960s, this was replaced with a red label with silver print.

1963-1973: Black label, rainbow at upper left.

1976-1977: Multi-color (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc Records" at top of label between two lines and the "Hickory" logo at left of center hole.

1977-1979: Multi-color (yellow, orange, purple) "target" label with "abc" in an eighth note at top of label and the "Hickory" logo at left of center hole.

Imperial

1952-1954: Blue label, script "IMPERIAL" at top.

1954-1955: Red label, script "IMPERIAL" at top.

1955-1957: Red label, block "IMPERIAL" at top.

1957-1963: Black label, white block "IMPERIAL" at top. There is significant overlap with the red label; some red label pressings are known as late as 1959. (Blue or purple labels from this era are counterfeits or bootlegs.)

1964-1966: Black label, pink and white color blocks at upper and lower left, "IR" logo in box at center left.

1966-1970: Black label, green color blocks at upper and lower left, "IR" logo in box at center left.

Infinity (pop)

In business for just over a year (late 1978 to late 1979), it lasted long enough to have two label variations. The earliest 45s have a primarily white label with "optical illusion" logo at the top. Later 45s have a primarily brown label with a slightly different rendering of the "optical illusion" logo.

Island

Since the label was first set up as a U.S. entity in 1972, it's been distributed by Capitol, independently, by Warner Bros. and Atco (at the same time for different artists!), PolyGram and Universal Music Group. The labels have changed even more often than the distribution, and it's possible this list is incomplete.

1972-1974: Sunray label, "ISLAND" along bottom of label in stylized letters.

1974-1975: Yellow background on label, "water skier" offshore, "island" along top.

1975-1977: Black label with "i" logo at bottom and "Island Records" underneath.

1977-1982: Orange and blue label.

1982-1983: Dark purple label with skyscraper at left and "Island" sloping upward.

1983-1984: Light blue label, "Island" in red across top.

1985-1990: Black label, logo at bottom.

1990s-2000s: Some have white labels, others have black labels with Island logo at top.

Jamie

1956-1958: Black label.

1958-1959: Yellow label, "JAMIE" at top.

1959-early 1970s: White and yellow label, "jamie" vertically at left.

1970s: Orange and black label.

Janus

1970: White label, gold and black print.

1970-1977: Brownish-gold label.

1977-1978: Red label.

Josie

1954-1957: Light brown label, "Joz" logo at top, brown print.

1957-1959: Light brown label, "Joz" logo at top, red print.

1959-1970s: Peach label, yellow "josie" logo in black oval, multi-color lines emanating from bottom of oval.

Jubilee

1951-1952: Dark blue label, "Jubilee" in script print, no line under "Jubilee."

1952-1959: Dark blue label, "Jubilee" in script print, with line under "Jubilee."

1959-1970s: Black label.

Kama Sutra

1965: Almost all the label is taken up by a red sunburst with black print. Some yellow is also visible.

Early 1966: Yellow label, red sunburst around outside of label, "Kama Sutra" in red.

Mid 1966-1969: Yellow label, "Kama Sutra" in black.

1970-1972: Pink label.

1972-1974: Light blue label, Garden of Eden scene at top.

Keen

1957: Black label, silver print.

1958-1959: Colored vertical stripes with letters of "KEEN" in individual gray circles.

1959: Silver label, black print.

1959-1960: Black label, "KEEN" to left of center hole, five-color vertical stripe next to it.

King

1951-1955: Maroon label, gold print on country series (three-digit numbers and numbers in the 1000 series through ca. 1470).

1951-1955: Blue label, silver print, the words "High Fidelity" are absent (4000 series through ca. 4830).

1955-1959: Both series are the same, with blue labels and the words "High Fidelity" in relatively small letters.

1959-1969: Blue label, "High Fidelity" in even larger print.

1969-1971: Orange and brown label. James Brown 45s had his photo on them.

1971-end: Black label; James Brown 45s had his photo on them.

Kirshner

Successor to Calendar Records.

1969-mid 1970s: Orange label, "KIRSHNER" in individual boxes across the top.

Mid 1970s-early 1980s (CBS distribution): White label with multi-color top.

Laurie

1957-1958 (3013-3019?): Light blue or gray label, "Laurie Records" on top. This label also was used on some pressings of 3366 (from 1966)!

1958-1970s: White, red and black labels. Through approximately 3215, the record number stood alone. After this, the letters "LR" were added before the record number. Numbers in the 3100s with an "LR" before them are reissues.

Liberty

1955-1960: Green label, silver print. Some are known to exist with all-black labels with silver print and also with blue labels with silver print. All of these have the "LIBERTY" logo across the top of the label.

1961-1966: Black label, rainbow colored area left of center hole, "LIBERTY" in rectangle at 9 o'clock.

1966-1969: Black label, rainbow colored area left of center hole, "LIBERTY" in black inside a rounded white box with Statue of Liberty graphic.

1970-1971: Black label, rainbow colored area left of center hole, "LIBERTY" in black inside a squared-off white box with Statue of Liberty graphic.

1980-1986: Reactivated label; gray label, "Liberty" in multi-color letters across top.

1992-1995: Re-reactivated label; white label, "FOR JUKEBOXES ONLY!" at left.

London

1949-1955: Some London 45s in this period for U.S. distribution were made in England and exported; these have blue labels with gold print, "Made in England" at the top, and an upside-down master number on the label.

1949-1961: Most London 45s in this period for U.S. distribution were made in the U.S.; these have blue labels with silver or white print.

1962-mid 1965 (to approximately 9741): White label, deep blue inserts, two egg-shaped purple areas at 3 and 9 o'clock; "LONDON RECORDS" encircles the entire label.

Mid 1965 (to approximately 9766): "Blue swirl" label, with alternating triangles of three shades of blue and "LONDON" in stylized white letters at top.

Mid 1965-1976: Same as previous listing, except the stylized "LONDON" is in black. In mid 1974, the prefix on London 45s changed to "5N."

1977-1982: Multi-color "sunrise" label.

1983-1995: White label, upside-down triangle logo at top.

London 45s on black labels are imports.

MCA

Late 1972 (40000-40010?): Black label, white print.

1973-late 1978: Black label, silver print, rainbow at upper left.

Late 1978-early 1980: Tan label, darker tan circle around outside.

Early 1980-1998: Light blue label, rainbow at upper left.

1999-present (pop): White label

1999-present (country): Gray label.
A few MCA singles have custom labels.

Mercury

1950-1952 (numbers in 4-digit series, mostly 5000s and 8000s): Maroon label, "Mercury" stands alone at top.

1952-1957: Some maroon, some black labels, "Mercury" stands alone at top. Also known to exist are pink and green labels in this series.

1957-late 1964: A few early maroon labels, but mostly black labels, "Mercury" in a double oval at the top. Blue labels are known to exist for stereo singles and some mono singles around 1959. Mysteriously, a couple big hits as late as 1968 exist on this label.

Late 1964-1967: Red label, "MERCURY" stands alone in white across top. A couple records with this design have the "MERCURY" in black.

1967-mid 1968: Tan and orange "swirl" label, "Mercury" in oval at top. (There is some overlap with the above label.)

Mid 1968-1973: Red label, white "mercury" in white oval at top. (Again, there is some overlap with the above label.)

1973-mid 1974: Red label, white "mercury" in white oval at top, logos of Vertigo, Mercury and Philips labels at bottom to reflect the creation of Phonogram, Inc., the precursor to PolyGram.

Mid 1974-early 1983: Chicago skyline label.

Early 1983-1996: Black label, "Mercury" in neon-effect letters across top.

1996-present: Black label, "Mercury" in red diamond at top.

Some Mercury 45s were pressed with custom labels or "retro" labels.

MGM

1949-1958: Yellow label.

1959: Yellow label with "12th Anniversary" under logo at top in red letters.

1960-mid 1968: Black label.

Mid 1968-1976: Blue and gold label.

Monument

1958-1959: Black label.

1959-1960: White label, vertical gold pinstripes.

1960-1963: White label with copper swirl.

1963: White label with multi-color swirl.

1964-1971: Yellow label with light green swirl.

1971-1976: Dark orange, almost brown, label.

1977-1981: Black label, "MONUMENT" spelled out in simulated stone-carved letters across top.

1982-1983: Silver label.

1999-2000 (reactivated): White label.

Motown

June 1961-mid 1990s: Blue label with Detroit-area map at top.

Mid 1990s-early 2000s: White label.

Ode

1967-1970: Yellow label, "Ode" logo in black print left of the center hole.

1970-1971: White and silver label, "Ode 70" at upper right.

1971-1975: White and silver label, "Ode Records" at upper right.

1975-1978: Tan label with both Ode and Epic logos.

Parkway

1958 (801): Blue label.

1958-1960 (802-811): White label, blue print.

1960-1961 (812-829?): Orange label, black print.

1961-early 1967 (830?-999, 100-at least 127): Orange and yellow label, white "PARKWAY" at top.

Early 1967-end (128?-end): Yellow and orange label, new logo at top with interlocking "C-P" and the "P" filled in.

Philips

1962-mid 1967: Black label.

Mid 1967-mid 1972: Light blue label. (Some 1968 singles exist on the black label.)

Mid 1972-1976: Dark blue label with white and silver print.

Philles

1961-1962 (101-106): Orange label.

1962-1963 (104-115): Light blue label. (Note that there is some overlap with the orange label.)

1963-1966 (116-136): Yellow and red label.

Polydor

All U.S. 45s on this label have red labels. Orange label Polydor singles are imports.

Portrait

1976-early 1980s: Gray label.

1980s: Black label.

Custom labels were used on some releases.

Rare Earth

1969: The lower half of the label is white. The upper half has an orange background, a drawing of a tree and the words "RARE EARTH" in white. This label was later used as the promo label, but for the first editions of early 45s, it was also the stock label.

1970-1976 (511-550): All-orange label with a drawing of a tree and the words "RARE EARTH" in white.

RCA/RCA Victor (pop)

1949: Aqua label, "RCA VICTOR" in a semicircle on the upper half of the label, outline of Nipper logo at right with circular "RCA" logo to upper right, gold print.

1950-1952: Aqua label, same design as above, but with silver print. (RCA found that the original gold print faded very easily.)

1952-1954: Black label, same design as above.

1954-1964: Usually called "black label, dog on top." A smaller "RCA VICTOR" is in white at top, with a full-bodied Nipper logo underneath. Through 1957, some editions have a white horizontal line at roughly 10 and 2 o'clock; this simply indicates that the 45 was pressed at Rockaway, N.J. and has no deeper meaning. Also, some editions are missing the dog on top; this is most likely a factory error, though a very collectible one.

1965-end of 1968: Usually called "black label, dog on side" or "black label, dog at left." "RCA VICTOR" is on two lines at 3 o'clock; full-bodied Nipper logo is at left, title of song is at top, artist is at bottom.

Late 1968-early 1976: Orange label, no dog, "RCA" outline at left turned on its side, "Victor" at 3 o'clock, both in white.

Mid 1974-early 1975: Gray label, same design as above, starting with PB-10001; this overlapped with the orange label. Gray labels were used in the east, orange in the west.

Early 1975-mid 1976: Brown label, same design as above. There is some overlap with gray labels, and even more with orange labels. Again, brown labels dominate in the east, orange in the west.

Mid 1976-1988: Usually called "black label, dog near top." "RCA" outline logo in white at 12 o'clock, Nipper logo at 1 o'clock. The word "VICTOR" does not appear anywhere on this label.

1988-present: Various, including the same label as 1976-1988 (country only); red label, circular RCA logo at top; silver label, red circular RCA logo at top; silver label, Nipper logo at top; various combinations of white, red and silver. Most late 1990s singles are white with the RCA logo on top. Most 2000s 45s, and some indeed exist, are white with the RCA logo at right, the artist at the top and the song title at the bottom.

Red Bird

All have yellow labels with black print. A red bird is above the center hole, and the words "Red" and "Bird" are on either side of it in black.

Reprise

1961 (possibly only on 20,001): Light blue label.

1961-late 1964: Peach label.

Late 1964-late 1967: Orange and brown label.

Late 1967-early 1970: Lighter orange (tan) label with steamboat and both "W7" and "r:" logos.

Early 1970-early 1980s: Lighter orange (tan) label with steamboat, but with only the "r:" logo.

1986-1987 (reactivated): Black label.

1988-late 1990s: Light blue and maize label.

Mid 1990s-early 2000s: Most issues without the above label have a peach, green and pink label with steamboat logo in right corner. Some others have a white label with a reproduction of the early 1970-early 1980s design.

Early 2000s-present: White label, "r:" logo at left.

Roulette

1957 (4001-4004?): Maroon label, silver print, or red label, black print, "Roulette" in script at top, with roulette numbers along outside of the label.

1957 (after the above): Red label, black print, "ROULETTE" in capital letters, roulette wheel at top of label only.

1957-1958 (still later): Red label, black print, "Roulette" at top, no roulette wheel along edge.

1958-1962 (4050?-4400?): White label with six colored "spokes."

1962-1963: Pink label.

1963-1967: Orange and yellow label.

1967-1975: Orange and yellow label, gray circle added between outer and inner parts of label design, "ROULETTE" in black letters.

1976: Same as above, except "ROULETTE" is in green letters.

Scepter

1958-1960 (1201-1208?): White label, blue print.

1960-1961 (1209?-1216?): Red label, "Scepter" in black script and a silver outline.

1961-1971: Red label, black wedge through center hole, "SCEPTER RECORDS" in white in two lines at the left of the center hole.

1967-1974: Kaleidoscopic label, "SCEPTER RECORDS" in black inside white oval at top of label. Before mid-1971, this seems to have been a custom label for Dionne Warwick's 45s, but by late 1971 this was used for all Scepter singles.

1974-1976: Dark blue label, "SCEPTER" in white.

Shelter

1971-1972 (8900-8910?): Red label with upside-down Superman logo at left.

1972-1973: Red label with blacked-out upside-down Superman logo at left.

1974-1976 (MCA distribution): Yellow label.

1977-1978 (ABC distribution): Orange label.

Specialty

1951-1957: White, yellow and black label, black bars at left and right have a wavy line through the center.

1957-1980s: Same as above, except the two black bars do NOT have a wavy line through the center. Later issues often have glossy labels; some have references to appearances on LP whereas most original Specialty 45s do not.

Stax

1961-mid 1968: Light blue label, "STAX" and pile of records at top. Some of these labels, especially earlier ones, can appear gray.

Mid 1968-early 1970s: Green label, multi-color "stax" at left. All of these are reissues of masters owned by Atlantic.

Mid 1968-ca. 1971: Yellow label with "finger snapping" logo at left; "stax" is in red and logo is in two shades of blue.

1971-mid 1970s: Yellow label with "finger snapping" logo at left; "stax" is in red and logo is in two shades of brown.

Late 1970s-early 1980s: Purple at top, white at bottom, "finger snapping" logo at left.

Sun

1953-1967: Mustard yellow label, chocolate brown print. Musical notes ring the outer edge of the label. Alternating brown and yellow rays emanate from the center hole area. The letters "SUN" are in yellow over the rays. At the bottom of the label, in yellow print with brown background, are the words "Memphis, Tennessee." NOTE: Any Sun single on the above label with black print is a reproduction or counterfeit.

1968-1986: Yellow label, brown print. Four "targets" are visible in the lower half of the label. The music notes only go around half the label instead of nearly all of it, and at the bottom is "Sun International Corp., A Division of the Shelby Singleton Corp., Nashville, U.S.A."

Swan

1958 (4001 only?): White label, red print, "SWAN" in block letters at top.

1958-1963: White label, red print, "Swan" in script.

1963-1966: Black label, silver print, "Swan" in script.

The black label adds the words "DON'T DROP OUT" at 10 o'clock. There is some overlap with the white label (for example, all known copies of 4182 are on the white label), and some of the overlapping white labels have "DON'T DROP OUT" on them.

NOTE: Any white-label Swan 45s with maroon print (usually referring to 4152) are counterfeits.

Tamla

1959-July 1961 (101-102, 5501, 54021-54043, first press of 54045): Yellow label, horizontal lines at top of label, "TAMLA" vertically at upper left.

June 1961-early 1967 (54044, second press of 54045, 54046-54175?): Yellow label, globe and record at top of label. Most of these have the record at the top left and globe at top right, but some early records have the globe and record overlapping.

Early 1967-mid 1980s: Yellow label, "TAMLA" logo in box at top of label.

Tollie

1964 (9001-9010s): Yellow label. 9001 and 9908 also exist on black labels.

1964-1965 (9010s-end): White label with olive, yellow, red, blue and purple color bars.

Tower

1964-1968: Orange label.

1968-1969: Multi-color striped label.

United Artists

1959-1960: Red and black label, "UNITED" at left of center hole, "ARTISTS" at right.

1960-ca. 1962: Black label, "UA" at top, multi-color lines along outside of label.

1962-ca. 1963: Black label, "UNITED ARTISTS" in two lines inside rounded box at top, other colors on label.

1963-ca. 1964: Black label, "UNITED ARTISTS" in two lines inside rounded box at top, vertical lines tangent to center hole.

1964-early 1968: Black label, "UNITED ARTISTS" in two lines inside rounded box at top, no other lines.

Early 1968-late 1970: Pink and orange label.

Late 1970-mid 1971: Black label, orange at upper and lower right, United Artists logo at center left.

Mid 1971-late 1977: Tan label, "UA" at top.

Late 1977-mid 1980: "Sunrise" label.

Universal

A country label that lasted for exactly one year (1989), the earliest labels were black and pale yellow; later labels were black and red.

Vee Jay

1953-1956: Maroon label with neither "Made in U.S.A." nor "Trade Mark Reg." on label.

1956-1958: Maroon label, "Made in U.S.A." on label.

1958-1960: Maroon label, "Trade Mark Reg." on label.

1960-mid 1963: Black label, rainbow ring around outside rim, oval logo at top. At least one record exists with a red ring around the outside rim rather than a rainbow ring.

Mid 1963-early 1964: Black label, rainbow ring around outside rim, large "VJ" and smaller "VEE-JAY RECORDS" in white brackets at top.

Early 1964-mid 1965: Numerous different labels.

Vik

A 1950s RCA subsidiary, its issues were black with a multi-color "Vik" logo across the top.

Virgin

Virgin's American history is spotty at times; for some years there was no Virgin Records in America, but material that came out on Virgin U.K. was leased to other labels.

1973-1975: White label, "two virgins" painting at top of label, distributed by Atlantic.

1976-1978: White label, "two virgins" painting at top of label, distributed by CBS.

1979-1980: White label, "Virgin" in blue letters at bottom right, again distributed by Atlantic.

1983-1986: Black label, "Virgin" and "Epic" logos on label. (All of these were Culture Club singles.)

1987-1989: Black label, blue upside-down triangle logo at top of label.

1989-1990: Orange label.

1990-1992: Purple label.

1993-2001: White label, "FOR JUKEBOXES ONLY!" at left. Some of these have custom labels.

Volt

1962-mid 1968: Red and black label.

Mid 1968-early 1970s: Orange, black and brown label, multi-color "VOLT records" at left, lightning bolt at right. All of these are reissues of masters owned by Atlantic.

Mid 1968-late 1971: Dark blue label, black print, red and black lightning bolt at right with "VOLT" at 2 o'clock. Many of these labels have print that is hard to read.

Late 1971-mid 1970s: Orange label, yellow lightning bolt at right with "VOLT" in white at right.

Warner Bros.

1958-1960: Pink label.

1960-1964: Red label with colored arrows around the inside of the label.

1964-1968: Orange labels with lines around the outside of the label.

1968-early 1970: Olive green label with "W7" in a box at the top and "Warner Bros.-Seven Arts Records" along the top outer edge.

Early 1970-mid 1973: Olive green label with "WB" in a shield at the top and "Warner Bros. Records" along the top outer edge.

Mid 1973-late 1978: So-called "Burbank" label; color palm-tree street scene with "Burbank, Home of Warner Bros. Records" along top edge.

Late 1978-early 1980s: Gray or white label with horizontal pinstripes.

Early 1980s-early 2000s: White label.

Early 2000s-present: Various color labels.

Some Warner Bros. singles have custom labels.

"X"

This subsidiary of RCA Victor released 45s from 1954 through 1956, then was replaced by the Vik label. The label is white with red print and a big red "X" at the top of the label.

❑ 227	My Marie/Out of This World	197?	2.00	4.00	8.00
—There are differences of opinion on this record. Some claim that it was released in 1954 not long after Gem 221; others claim that it's a 1970s reproduction on a number that Gem never used. As no 78s are known to exist of this title, we lean toward the latter, but would appreciate positive evidence one way or the other.

FIVE SHARPS, THE (1)

BIM BAM BOOM
❑ 103	Stormy Weather/Sleepy Cowboy	1972	2.00	4.00	8.00
—Reissue mastered off the cracked Jubilee 78 (see below); the original master has long since disappeared
JUBILEE
❑ 5104	Stormy Weather/Sleepy Cowboy	1952	—	—	—

—Unknown on 45 RPM (3 known copies, one of which is cracked, exist on 78); all known 45s are counterfeits. Known counterfeits do not match the proper typeface of the era for the label, and the blue labels are too bright compared to authentic Jubilee 45s of the early 1950s. If a legitimate 45 would be confirmed, it could sell for more than any record ever made!

Number	Title (A Side/B Side)	Yr	VG	VG+	NM
FIVE SHARPS, THE (2) A completely different group than (1), they were assembled by Jubilee to record a new version of "Stormy Weather" in the midst of the hubbub about the first Five Sharps version.
